Madrid, February 2015

After traveling and living for more than ten years abroad I came back to my city and started an exciting and rewarding blogging activity together with my sister. Our blog's main subject is our little Madrid environment: what we like, what we do and where we go. It is a personal view of the city with many tips and special hangouts, not included in traditional guides, that we felt could help outsiders in their way through Madrid.

This little guide proposes places and things to do all year round, month by month, following the structure of the blog www.my-little-madrid.com and including my very simple drawings.

Hope you enjoy its content as much as we do!
